

HE VALUES HIS HURTS AT $90,000.
Butcher Kugelman Demands Heavy Damages for a Thrashing.

There was a lively row last Monday morning in the offices of Schwartzschild & Sulzberger, the wholesale butchers whose stock yards cover several blocks in First avenue. As a result of it suit has been brought in the Court of Common Pleas against Solomon Sulzberger of 21 East Sixty-seventh street for $20,000 for alleged assault and battery. Moses Kugelman, a retail butcher, of 217 Avenue B, is the plaintiff in the case.

It appears that Mr. Kugelman has been in the habit for the past four years of supplying Schwartzschild & Sulzberger with the fat bones, and hides which his own customers refused to give him. Wholesale dealers send their wagons about the city to gather up this refuse, and when the driver of a wagon receives a load, he enters the same in a book kept by the seller.

On Jan. 4, Mr. Kugelman sent his son Louis to Schwartzschild & Sulzberger's office, Forty-fifth street and First avenue, with his book to get a check for $13,900. It is alleged that Mr. Sulzberger made certain alterations in Mr. Kugelman's book, which resulted in his handing Louis a check for $75,73, which he said was the amount charged in the book. Louis took the check back to his father, who also made alterations in it, and the sum was reduced to $13,900. Then Mr. Kugelman returned the check to Mr. Sulzberger.

The physician states that the brain of Daniel Webster was originally much larger than at the time of his death, but that it had become shrunken by disease and the use of alcohol. It is estimated that at least six ounces were lost.

Think of it! The brain shrinks, the tissues waste, the thinking power becomes less, all by reason of overexertion, disease, or dissipation.

How many men and women to-day are shrinking, wasting, ruining their brains, and thus shortening their lives? The number is legion, and yet it is all needless, it can all be avoided; let us explain:

The brain and nerves need food, not such food as sustains the muscles, makes bone, makes sinew, but brain food—nerve food. If the tissues of the brain are strained by over-application, alcohol, or other causes, they can be kept in perfect condition by feeding the brain properly, not with ordinary food, but something especially designed for them. For this purpose nothing has ever been known equal to the great modern discovery, Paine's cereal compound. This is a perfect food for the brain and nerves. It is no ordinary concoction, nervous, sarparsarial or tonic, but a veritable blessing to weary brains, overstrained nerves, and weakened lives.

P. R. Sellen, in speaking on this subject, said: "After 20 years of successful hard work in the ministry my health failed, and some three years ago I had to give up my labors on account of nervous prostration. I doctored with a number of physicians and their medicines, but could not recover my nervous strength. I suffered with a pain and dizziness in the back of my head which some of the time almost drove me mad. I commenced taking Paine's cereal compound for my brain and nerves, and I have increased in flesh."

Such is the discovery which is doing so much to-day to build up the nerves, fortify the brain, and prolong the life.—Adv.

GENERAL BUTLER'S BRAIN.

IT WAS FOUR OUNCES HEAVIER THAN DANIEL WEBSTER'S.

Some Great Disclosures Regarding the Brains of Great Men and What They Indicate—Why They Shrink.

The brain of Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was found upon examination to weigh sixty-two ounces, which was four ounces more than the brain of great Daniel Webster. Up to this time Webster's brain was the second largest on record, the largest being that of Cuyler, which weighed fifty-six ounces. The average weight of the brain in man is about forty-four ounces.

The physicians state that the brain of Daniel Webster was originally much larger than at the time of his death, but that it had become shrunken by disease and the use of alcohol. It is estimated that at least six ounces were lost.

Mr. Kugelman's lawyer's brief states that Mr. Sulzberger told him that he was a "damned liar and a forger." Then he demanded his book, and the seller reluctantly gave it up, the book Mr. Sulzberger and a salesman named Samuel Black being on the floor and took it by force.

He then left the office, and when he reached the stairway he kicked him down a flight of stairs, at the bottom of which he lay unconscious and bleeding for some time. Mr. Sulzberger is a practicing attorney, and he has also brought a civil action in the Fifth District Court to recover the $113,900 from the firm.

GARZA NOT IN THE BORDER TROUBLES.

State Leader Under Arrest in San Antonio.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—The Picayune's San Antonio despatch on the Garza matter says: "Prudencio Gonzales, the revolutionary leader in jail here, whose extradition the Mexican Government has asked, says he was a Colonel in the last army of invasion; that Francisco Bonavides, General in command, was at Rio Grande City, and that he was arrested at Rio Grande, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that he was captured and afterward some of them tried to shoot him. A bullet hit his arm, and he was driven back by Mexican troops guarding the forts."

"Gonzales says Catrina Garza had nothing to do with the revolution, and he supposed Garza was in some foreign land."

"Garza, in his revolutionary attempt a year ago, had no idea of the act he was committing, and when he threatened to change what he had done, Col. Hernandez's troops, who had not even that large a force, Gonzalez admits that